2.3 Verbo Haber

Haber + Verb (ado - edo -ido) - (Visto - dicho - hecho...)*

Usuario (Sujeto)	Presente (He comido...)	Pasado (Había comido...)	Futuro (Habré comido...)
Yo	He	Había	Habré
Tú	Has	Habías	Habrás
Él / Ella / Usted	Ha	Había	Habrá
Nosotros/as	Hemos	Habíamos	Habremos
Ustedes / Ellos	Han	Habían	Habrán

Subject	Presente (He / Has...)	Pasado (Había / Hube...)	Futuro (Habré...)
I	Have	Had	Will have
You	Have	Had	Will have
He / She / It	Has ⚠	Had	Will have
We	Have	Had	Will have
They	Have	Had	Will have

2.3.1 Haber vs Tener

2.3.1.1. HAVE = HABER (Verbo Auxiliar)

Su único trabajo es ser un ayudante (auxiliar) para crear tiempos compuestos. Funciona igual que cuando en español dices "Yo he comido".

La Regla de Oro: Para que Have signifique Haber, SIEMPRE debe ir seguido de otro verbo en Participio (la 3ra columna de la lista de verbos: Done, Gone, Eaten, Played).

- En Presente (Present Perfect):
 - Have / Has = He, Has, Ha, Hemos, Han.
 - Ejemplo: I have finished my homework.
 - Traducción: Yo he terminado mi tarea.
- En Pasado (Past Perfect):
 - Had = Había, Habíamos, Habían.

- Ejemplo: She had called me before.
- Traducción: Ella me había llamado antes.

En tu tabla: Cada vez que veas la palabra "Perfect" (Present Perfect, Past Perfect), el Have significará Haber.

3.3.1.2. HAVE = TENER (Verbo Principal)

Aquí Have es el protagonista de la oración. Indica posesión, pertenencia o una relación. No necesita otro verbo al lado, sino un objeto (cosa o persona).

La Regla de Oro: Aquí Have va seguido de un Sustantivo (una cosa, persona, animal o idea), NO de otro verbo.

- Posesión:
 - Ejemplo: I have a new computer.
 - Traducción: Yo tengo una computadora nueva.
- Relaciones:
 - Ejemplo: They have three children.
 - Traducción: Ellos tienen tres hijos.
- Sensaciones / Enfermedades:
 - Ejemplo: Do you have a cold?
 - Traducción: ¿Tienes resfriado?

⚠ Recordatorio importante: Nunca uses Have para decir tu edad.

- I have 25 years ❌ (Incorrecto)
- I am 25 years old ✅ (Correcto - En inglés "se es" viejo, no "se tienen" años).

Resumen Rápido: ¿Cómo los distingo al leer?

Solo tienes que mirar la palabra que está inmediatamente después del Have:

1. ¿Después dice comido, vivido, estado (un verbo)? -> Entonces es HABER.
 - I have -> lived (He vivido).
2. ¿Después dice un coche, una casa, un problema (una cosa)? -> Entonces es TENER.
 - I have -> a car (Tengo un carro).

2.3.1.3. El bonus: "Have to" (Tener que)

Hay un tercer uso muy común. Si a have le agregas un to después, se convierte en obligación.

- I have to work. (Yo tengo que trabajar).

Verbos por temática o tipo de acción

¡Excelente idea! Agrupar los verbos por temática o tipo de acción es una de las mejores estrategias para memorizar vocabulario, ya que el cerebro crea asociaciones lógicas (contexto) en lugar de intentar aprender una lista alfabética sin sentido.

Aquí tienes los verbos regulares más comunes organizados por categorías.

Nota: He unificado las columnas de Pasado y Participio en una sola columna llamada "Pasado y Participio (-ed)", ya que en los verbos regulares siempre son iguales.

4. Linking Words

Los Linking Words (conectores) son esenciales para unir ideas y que tus oraciones no suenen robóticas.

Aquí tienes los tipos más importantes organizados por categoría (para qué sirven), en el mismo formato de tabla limpia para que puedas copiarlos a tu Google Docs.

1. Addition (Para añadir información)

Se usan cuando quieres sumar una idea a otra.

2. Contrast (Para mostrar oposición)

Se usan cuando hay un problema o una diferencia entre dos ideas.

3. Cause & Effect (Causa y Efecto)

Se usan para explicar el "por qué" o el resultado de algo.

4. Sequence & Time (Orden y Tiempo)

Ideales para contar historias o dar instrucciones.

5. Illustration (Para dar ejemplos)

Se usan para clarificar lo que acabas de decir.

💡 Un consejo de puntuación importante:

Fíjate en los ejemplos: palabras como However, Therefore, First y Finally casi siempre llevan una coma (,) justo después cuando van al inicio de la frase.

- Correcto: However,  I disagree.*
- Incorrecto: However I disagree.
